

GIRLS UNFOLD PATHETIC STORIES

Garment Workers Testify Before Committee In- vestigating Strikes

NORMAL EARNINGS $5

Assert Only Working From Day- light to Dark Without Lunch Would Bring in $8

TWO TAILORS ARE BEATEN

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—Pathetic stories of the lives of girls who dwell in tenements and gain a precarious livelihood in the garment trade were unfolded today before the aldermanic committee investigating the garment workers' strike, and its causes. Manufacturers ignored invitations to be present.

Earned as Low as 78 Cents.

Tears came to the eyes of some of the girls as they told of their struggles for existence. The normal earnings of the girls, testimony showed, were $5 a week and only supreme efforts, working from daylight to dark without lunch, would bring in eight dollars. Anna Simsky said that for three years she has worked from 5:30 a. m. to 7 p. m. without the usual noonday rest for lunch and made $8 a week. Pearl Krupnik said that in dull times she had earned as low as seventy eight cents a week. Fannie Berg said 300 girls had to use the same roller towel. Alderman Healy called the attention of the health department to this.

The most tragic detail of their work, the girls testified, was having garments thrown back to them to do over again.

Miss Berg said she worked from 7:30 a. m. to 5:45 p. m. and that she and thirteen other girls engaged on bastings were able to make $8 a week by giving up half of the lunch hour to work. All of the witnesses complained in greater or less degree of harsh treatment from foremen mostly in the way of abusive language. When Anna Simsky was getting only $5 a week and asked for more, she said a foreman pointed out of a window and calling her a vile name said:

"There is the world, go out and see if you can do better."

Alderman Geiger, of the committee was curious to learn how the girls managed to live on their incomes. Miss Berg explained:

"I pay $5 a month for my room and my sister charges me fifteen cents a meal for what I eat. I am often hungry but I can't afford to spend more."

Witness Proves a Surprise.

Emily Javorowsky as a witness proved a surprise to the committee which was appointed originally to investigate charges of police brutality in dealing with strikers.

"What have you and the others been doing since you went on strike?" she was asked.

"Going around beating up scabs," calmly replied the witness.

"Did you ever beat up one yourself?"

"Yes."

"Did anyone ever tell you to do that? Did you receive instructions from headquarters to do that?"

"No; No one ever told me. I knew enough to do that without being told."

Witness earned $6 a week working ten hours a day. She said she supported her mother and two young sisters on her earnings.

Grace Gross told of an alleged system for evading the ten hour law.

"I go to work at six but I am not supposed to punch the time clock until 7:30," she said.

Walks Two Miles to Work.

Bessie Alt, who earns $4 a week, related that she keeps within her income by walking two miles to and from work and spending only twenty five cents a day for food. Miss Alt, like the others, was asked if any foreman made improper advances to her.

"Some of the girls told me the foreman had asked them to go out with him," answered the witness. "If they did they were better treated."

"Better paid" asked Alderman Geiger.

"I think so."

Fannie Berg was recalled to the stand and told of a system of fines.

"If damage is done to a garment the offender is fined $1.50 or $2.00. If the offender is not known we are all assessed 25 cents apiece," she said.

Breakfast Is Served at Governor's Mansion Immediately After Ceremony at Church

LEAVE ON HONEYMOON

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 20.—William Joseph Corboy of Chicago and his bride, who was Miss Eileen Dunne, eldest daughter of Governor Dunne left here late today on their honeymoon. It was understood they were going to St. Louis and then go east from there to the seashore, where they elected to spend their honeymoon. They are to be gone three weeks.

At the executive mansion dancing continued long after the departure of young Mr. and Mrs. Corboy. Miss Mona Dunne was being rallied by her friends today because she caught the bride's bouquet.

Monsignor Hickey Says Mass.

Monsignor Timothy Hickey, vicar general of the Alton diocese of the Roman Catholic church said mass. Monsignor Hickey is more than eighty years old and when he advised the young pair: "Now don't be the both of you be talking at once and you'll be all right," Governor Dunne laughed out.

Members of Governor Dunne's staff aided in the sealing of the huge assemblage, which filled the church. There were guests from all over the country, and every side of official life in Illinois was represented.

Breakfast was served at the executive mansion immediately after the ceremony at the church.

During their stay here Mrs. Corboy was asked by a newspaper reporter "have you made any resolutions on your wedding day?"

GERMANS ADVANCE TOWARD RIGA

Russ Consider Situation Serious--Talk of Evacuating Port

IVANOFF WINS SUCCESSES

Muscovites Strike Hard at Teutons on Middle Sty and Along Fringe of Galicia

TEUTONS ADVANCE IN SERBIA

BULLETIN.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—Great Britain has made formal offer of the island of Cyprus to Greece as soon as Greece undertakes to intervene in the war on the side of the allies. The Daily Telegraph makes this announcement this morning.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—Battles south of Riga, where the Germans have made some progress in the new thrust at the Baltic province port and in Volhynia and Galicia where the Russians have gained rather important victories, are now competing in interest with the operations in the Balkans.

Stubborn Battle in Progress.

The Germans have concentrated very large forces with a great amount of artillery, south of Riga and as a result, a stubborn battle has been in progress for several days. Field Marshal Von Hindenburg who is in command in this region, reported two days ago that his forces had reached the river Dvina, but, as on previous occasions, this broad and fast running waterway appears to have held him up for the time being.

The situation, however, is considered by the Russians to be more serious than it has been for a long time and there is again talk of the evacuation of Riga by the military who have been in sole occupation of the city since the civilian population left a month ago.

Drives Austro-Germans Back.

At the other end of the eastern front the position is just the reverse. General Ivanoff, who has proved himself to be the most aggressive of the Russian commanders, has been striking hard at the Austro-German forces on the middle Sty and all along the fringe of Galicia that is still in Russian hands. At several places he has driven his opponents back and there is a report tonight that the Austrians have evacuated Czernowitz—a report which finds some confirmation in an Odessa despatch declaring that the Russians have abandoned their contemplated evacuation of the northern districts of Bessarabia.

Spread Over Wider Front.

The progress of events in Serbia is surrounded by considerable mystery. The Austro-Germans and Bulgarians are advancing all along the various fronts but not with the speed anticipated. The Austro-Germans apparently have spread their armies over a wider front, as Berlin tonight reports that they are advancing on Shabatz, which is a long distance west of Belgrade; while for the Bulgarians it is claimed that they have captured Sultan Tepe, southwest of Egnipalanka, and that in advancing toward Kumanovo they took 2,000 prisoners.

ADOPT CODE TO REGULATE TRAFFIC

Conservation of Life and Property is Keynote of Safety First Meeting

URGE PASSAGE OF LAW

Would Require Licensing of Automobile Drivers Based on Strict Examination

NAME THREE NEW DIRECTORS

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 20.—Conservation of life, limb, health and property in the United States and Canada was the keynote of the closing meeting of the Safety First Federation of America here today. A uniform code to regulate traffic throughout the country was adopted. One of the principal resolutions adopted urges every state and Canada to pass a law requiring the licensing of automobile drivers. It is recommended the licensing be based "on the strict examination of moral, mental and physical capacity," of the applicant and that a photograph of the person receiving the license be attached to the permit.

Recommend Safety Zones.

A resolution was favorably received urging the adoption of laws to deprive a driver, convicted of operating a machine while intoxicated, of his license for six months. Permanent disqualification for a second offense is recommended. Safety zones and cross-walks, designated "by white lines or otherwise," should be maintained in every municipality where necessary, the federation decided.

Other resolution provide for affixing standard license plates where they can easily be seen and best illuminated; headlights to reveal any object at least 150 feet straight ahead; prohibition of glaring headlights, proper use of dimmers and a uniform speed limit of ten miles per hour in the congested or business districts of cities.

Resolutions adopted include the following:

Enactment of laws prohibiting the sale of dangerous weapons and explosives; state and municipal authorities to supply free anti-tetanus serum to be placed at stations where it can be conveniently and quickly obtained; prohibition of the sale of fire arms except upon presentation of a permit from the police department; prohibition of common drinking cups and roller towels; spitting in public places and on sidewalks; establishment of public baths by cities and medical and dental inspection of school children.

Elect Three Directors.

At a meeting of the board of directors held immediately after the adjournment of the convention, three new directors were elected to fill vacancies. They are C. Loomis Allen, Syracuse, N. Y., president of the American Electric railway association; R. B. Morley, secretary-treasurer of the Ontario safety league, Toronto; and Harry P. Coffin, chairman of the public safety commission, Portland, Ore.

Plans were discussed for the annual meeting of the federation which by a constitutional provision, is to be held at the headquarters of the federation in New York City on the second Monday of next December.

MORE COMPLETE RETURNS INCREASE MAJORITY AGAINST SUFFRAGE

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 20.—Hope cherished by New Jersey woman suffrage supporters that the defeat in yesterday's election of the proposed amendment to the state constitution giving suffrage to women would not be as great as earlier reports indicated vanished tonight when more returns increased the majority against the proposition. Large Employing Firms Endorse New Army Plan

At Least One Willing to Grant Men Leave on Full Pay to Enlist

GIVE MORE DETAILS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Endorsements of the administration's plan to create a great continental army for defense are beginning to reach Washington from large employing firms and corporations. It was learned tonight that approving letters had been received from several such concerns and that at least one had expressed willingness to grant its men leave on full pay for service in the proposed organization.

Would Enlist for Six Years.

Enlistments in the continental army as contemplated in Secretary Garrison's program would be for six years but the men actually would be required to serve but two months a year for the first three years during which time they would undergo intensive military training in field camps. Officials realize that the success of the scheme depends to a considerable extent upon co-operation with the government by the employers of the country's young men. One of the companies heard from wrote that it would gladly grant leave with pay to any of its men desiring to enlist, not only for reasons of patriotism but because it was regarded as a good business proposition to permit the men to take advantage of an opportunity to spend two months in vigorous camp life with military training.

To 1-1 Increase in Cadets.

Further details of the army program which provides for the building of a regular and continental army with reserves of more than 1,000,000 men in six years became known tonight. To obtain officers for the increase in the regular establishment the addition of 144 cadets to the present corps at the West Point military academy will be recommended bringing the corps up to the full capacity of the academy, 770 men. By this means, promotion of qualified men from the ranks and appointment to the regular service of graduates from military schools whose courses are approved by army officials, at least 1,000 officers soon can be added.

No increase in the size of the West Point academy itself will be recommended for the present although it is understood a considerable enlargement or possibly the establishment of another military school is under consideration for recommendation at a later date. Details as to the number of new general and staff officers which congress will be asked to authorize have not been made public.

Mellen, one time president of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, testified as a government witness today against the eleven men with which he was formerly associated on the roads' board of directors, whose trial on the charge of violating the Sherman anti-trust law began one week ago.

Standing before a government map of the New England railroad system, Mr. Mellen spent the last two hours of the afternoon session explaining the nature of the competitive railroad conditions at the time, 25 years ago, when the New Haven's alleged conspiracy to control the entire transportation traffic of the six states began.

PLACE EMBARGO ON ARMS TO MEXICO

President Issues Order Exempting Recognized De Facto Government

CLOSE VILLA CONSULATES

Treasury Will Have Aid of State, War and Justice Departments in Enforcing Embargo

DESCRIBE REJOICING SCENES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—President Wilson today issued a proclamation establishing an embargo on the shipment of arms and ammunition to Mexico and an order exempting from the prohibition the recognized de facto government of which General Carranza is chief executive. The proclamation makes it clear that the United States intends that no forces opposed to the recognized government in Mexico particularly those of General Villa shall obtain war munitions from this country in the future. The exception modified the proclamation so that it virtually applies only to the border states of Chihuahua, Sonora and Lower California.

To Telegraph Orders Today.

In enforcing the embargo the treasury will have the co-operation of the departments of state, war and justice. Orders will be telegraphed tomorrow to custom officials along the border and along both coasts of the United States. With the announcement that the Villa agency here would be closed, it became known today that the consulates established by the Villa faction in New York and other cities would be discontinued. The state department signified its intention of receiving consuls of the de facto government upon presentation of proper credentials.

A cablegram to the Carranza agency today described scenes of rejoicing in Mexico City over the news of Carranza's recognition. It said:

Cheer Carranza and Wilson.

"Every kind of noise-making signified the triumph of the cause of constitutional government tonight. Fire works were discharged in the plazas and in the streets of the capital while youngsters enjoyed themselves with firecrackers and sub. Until dawn the streets were alive with people. Formal parades and informal marches by the populace, with bands of music and rousing cheers for General Carranza and Woodrow Wilson, alternately resounded through the city. The season of good feeling and happiness was the source of great gratification to the foreign residents of the city, most particularly the Americans."

"It was considered an appropriate coincidence that the occasion of the recognition of Mexico in the sisterhood of American republics should have taken place while General Carranza was at Saltillo, where the first blow for constitutionalism and in opposition to Huerta was struck."

HOLDS LAW MAKING HAZING A MISDEMEANOR UNCONSTITUTIONAL

MONMOUTH, Ill., Oct. 20.—Judge L. E. Murphy of the Warren county court handed down a decision today holding unconstitutional the state law of 1901 making hazing a misdemeanor, on the ground that it is class legislation. The decision was given in the case of ten Monmouth high school boys who, it is charged, on May 25th, last, forced Miles King to swim in a cold lake and perform other acts.

The boys were discharged but still are defendants in a civil suit for damages.

FIVE BANDITS ROB FREIGHT.

Mayor Rodgers has a plan by which our fire apparatus may be bettered greatly by the purchase of auto trucks, to be placed under our present engines and hose wagon. It appears feasible and would be a great step in advance in our facilities for reaching fires in distant parts of the city. Mayor Rodgers is giving the matter thorough investigation.

According to figures tabulated by the Chicago & Alton, the earnings for the month of September amounted to $1,407,257, the largest ever reported for that month in the history of the road. And this showing was made during the first three weeks, as the last week showed a decrease. As a rule the month is not such a busy one but this year the wheat shipments were delayed by the excessive rains of July and August and then too the last month there was a greater movement in coal.

All property owners and men who deal in mortgages are especially interested in one of the new laws passed by the last general assembly of Illinois, which places a limitation on old mortgages. It provides that in instances where a mortgage was given on property many years ago and which has been paid off but for which payment there is no record, can automatically dispel itself. This law will make it necessary in the future for quiet title suits to clear title, where an old mortgage has existed as a cloud on a title to property.

Praise For Country Pastor.
Bishop Anderson accorded high praise for the country pastor at the synod of the Episcopal church now in session in Chicago. He calls him
"the unsung hero of the church today." "It is the country clergyman, who has the struggles, said the bishop, "and he is the one whose achievements represents the most conscientious kind of work. From the rural communities of today come those who will make the urban communities of tomorrow and it is there, where in this midwest district
the church is weakest, that the heroic work is done. It is these brave workers who shall prove that religion has not gone to seed in this country."

Use For Old Cars.
With the ever increasing output of automobiles, the question naturally arises, what disposition will be made of the old cars. In some cases the engine is in fair condition, but the body soon becomes out of date and not a great amount of use can be made of the old iron. The use of the light tractor in a way has solved the problem. After driving a car more than 20,000 miles, Farm and Home tells of a Canadian farmer who conceived the idea of making his old car do still further work on the farm. By putting an extra axle under the frame in two feet in front of the rear axle of the car, on which were placed two binder wheels the car was made into a tractor. The rear wheels were replaced with small sprocket wheels which were connected with large sprockets on the drive wheels by a chain. The owner states that he is now able to seed 30 acres a day or harrow from 60 to 70 acres per day. With two 12 inch bushers he is able to break five acres per day.

Submarine Attack on Boozie.
It has almost become a universal rule among railroad companies and in fact with all large business enterprises, in every line of human endeavor, that the man who trifles with booze is not wanted. Is the man with the clear brain, steady nerves, and physical equipments of the best that catches the eye of the employer. The Illinois Steel company evidently thinks strongly along this line for under the above caption they say:
"For the married man who cannot get along without drinks, the following is suggested as a means of freedom from bondage to saloons:
"Start a saloon in your own home.
Be the only customer (you'll have no license to pay). Go to your wife and give her two dollars to buy a gallon of whiskey, and remember there are sixty-nine drinks in a gallon. Buy your drinks from no one but your wife, and by the time that the first gallon is gone, she will have eight dollars to put into the bank and two dollars to start business again.
"Should you live ten years and continue to buy booze from her, and then die with snakes in your boots, she will have enough money to bury you decently, educate your children, buy a house and lot, and marry a decent man, and quit thinking about you entirely."

tory For I. C. Eleven. Coach Harmon Referred to As a Wizard at

By Fred H. Young.
(Conference Football Official.)
Bloomington, Oct. 20.—Barring injuries and an unexpected reversal of form, Illinois college of Jacksonville should have little difficulty in plowing its way through the season with an unblemished record. This team which is as strong a football machine as many of the larger colleges turn out showed remarkable form here Saturday against State Normal and are expected to beat both Wesleyan and Millikin despite the fact that they must meet both of these teams within the short space of eight days. Both games are scheduled at Jacksonville and this is an advantage which is not to be overlooked.
Wesleyan lost her chance for the title Saturday at Galesburg when Derby's heavyweights bumped the Muhl aggregation 13 to 3.

Illinois meets Wesleyan at Jacksonville Oct. 30 just after the Methodists tackle William and Vashit, another strong aggregation, and then Harmon must take Millikin on the following Saturday. Nov. 6, it's bound to be a stiff row but Harmon has the men to stand the gaff this year. Ten out of the eleven men who composed the 1914 team are back and the team played together better than any football team that has hit this city in many a day last week against Normal.

Harmon a Wizard.
Before Coach Harmon went to Illinois college, the Jacksonville institution usually took a back seat in all sports. Now it is different. You can talk of Zuppke and Percy Haughton
but when it comes to building something out of nothing this fellow is a wonder. Harmon is a clear student of the game himself and is always plugging away anxious to learn more. In 1912 he spent the summer with Glenn Warner, the Carlisle Indian mentor. The following year he was at Zuppke's school at Illinois and last summer he spent his vacation up in the woods of Minnesota with Doc Williams. His team shows the result of his study.

Concentrated Action.
It was the concentrated attack of the Blue and White team which made the big hit with the writer.
The team is not particularly long on star performers although Harmon has worked wonders with some of his men and nearly every one of his athletes has been "made" since going to Jacksonville.

Alford is a great line-bucker. Wilson is a mighty good man to advance the ball while Fred Stewart, the veteran commander knows how to run a football team. He has a good pair of tackles in Mitchell and Frisbie but outside of these five fellows his material all stacks up largely as a unit.

In the Other Camps.
A look at some of the other teams
may be of interest to the gridiron followers. Lombard had a wonderful team at the start but were unfortunate enough to run into both Illinois and Wesleyan at the jump and Derby has a badly crippled aggregation just at present.

Lombard will be mighty lucky to beat Millikin in the crippled condition which the Universalists will have to play next Saturday although Derby has some wonderful material this year. This will undoubtedly be one of the best games of the season.
Bradley should trim Lincoln Saturday although Honaker has a better team than usual and a mighty clever punter in Holmes, the former Lincoln high school athlete.

Wesleyan Should Beat W. & V.
Illinois Wesleyan should beat William and Vashit Saturday. The Methodists have profited by their defeat at Galesburg and Muhl's machine will be sure to be working more smoothly next Saturday. W. & V. is strong however and this game is likely to be a fierce one.

State Normal is due to win this week meeting Blackburn in place of Hedding. Russell figured on a great season but got a big jolt right off the jump when Millikin beat his proteges 7 to 0 and Harmon's juggernaut followed with a 27 to 0 lacing.

HUNDREDTH ANNIVERSARY OF RICHARD H. DANA

Fate of His Famous Vessel Puzzles
Literary World—Has Healthy
Influence on American Literature.

Boston, Oct. 20.—The hundredth anniversary of Richard Henry Dana, author of "Two Years Before the Mast," a leader in the anti-slavery movement and an authority on international law, is being celebrated today at his birthplace in Cambridge. Exercises will be held this evening in Sanders Theatre, Cambridge. Joseph H. Choate, former ambassador to the court of St. James will speak on Dana as a citizen, a lawyer and a writer on law; Prof.
Bliss Perry will comment on Mr.
Dana's literary work, and Hon.
Moorfield Storey of Boston will consider the famous author's connection with the anti-slavery movement.

One of the interesting phases of the centenary celebration is the mystery in the fate of the good brig,
"Pilgrim," on which Dana gained his material for "Two Years Before the Mast." The custom house records say that she was broken up at Key West, the Californians point with pride to the remains of a vessel which they claim was Dana's famous vessel, and still a third version of the "Pilgrim's" fate has just come to light. There has been discovered among the Dana family's papers an old letter which purports to tell the whole tale of the fate of the brig. Coming from the hand of a sailor who shipped on the Pilgrim's last voyage, one might expect it to be final, but certain discrepancies that exist between it and the custom house records leave a tempting margin of doubt. Easterners have always scoffed at the claims of the Pacific historians that the good brig's bones rest on their coast.
"Two Years Before the Mast," is peculiarly treasured in California for the description it makes of the sights and scenes at a time when the coast was a wilderness. But the new evidence further confirms the belief here that the wreck cherished there is that of another ship than Dana's.

Here is the letter of Edward Hill, written Feb. 5, 1878, and dated at Boston, to Mr. Dana, giving what purports to be an account of the last voyage of the brig Pilgrim and its destruction:

"According to your request, made to me at Halifax last summer, I give you a statement about your brig Pilgrim. I joined her at Boston in the autumn of 1842, I think it was. I am not quite sure of the year, but it was in the autumn, and I think it was in October. She then belonged to Captain Haley of Salem.
James Sheppard was master of her,
she was bound from Boston to New

with a full cargo
We had on board the master, one mate, a cook and five men.
"When we were off the Tortugas, say some one hundred miles, one night, I saw smoke in the forecabin and called the captain. We put the small boat overboard at once. The smoke came up through the deck everywhere, and we saw that she was all afire, fore and aft. We lowered the small boat, but had no time to attempt to lower the long boat.
We had no time to save anything to speak of. Before I could get into the boat, the forward part of her blew up, and the morning, which was Sunday, the brig rolled over, and exploded, like a broadside of a ship of war, and sank."

The letter agrees with Mr. Dana's own statement that "after a few years" he "read of her total loss at sea by fire," although he adds "off the coast of North Carolina." The letter also agrees with the custom house records here that the owner's name was Haley. But the writer says the fire took place about 1842 and the vessel exploded and sank whereas the customs house records say "sundered of transfer 30 June, 1856; broken up at Key West."

And so the thousands of readers of "Two Years Before the Mast," are speculating today as to whether the "Pilgrim" came to her end through fire, or outlived her usefulness and was broken up for junk.

But whatever their conclusion,
"Two Years Before the Mast," the spontaneous work of a youth who began writing at 21 and say the book published at 23, enjoys a literary longevity whose term cannot yet be measured in years. The book had a healthy influence on American literature, for it brought new youth to all American writing. From its mark may be dated the "modern" period in American literature—the energy and freedom, simplicity and charm, unspoiled by attempt to create charm by embellishment, and above all the prevailing geniality of its pages, gave fresh life to a literature which had been stilted and sterile.

"The Commanding Officer," stirring photo adaption of the noted military romance, combines in a thrilling and absorbing manner a novel and varied environment and original plot that often at-in a screen play. With the interest of the theme centering about the beautiful young wife of the commanding officer, who is unjustly accused of an immoral deed of which she is thoroughly guiltless, the development of the plot is marked by a uniformity of merit and a consistency.

SIR EDWARD CARSON HANDS SEALS OF HIS OFFICE TO KING GEORGE

States He Never Had the Slightest Personal Difference With Any of His Colleagues.

London, Oct. 20.—Coming direct from Buckingham Palace, where he handed to King George the seals of his office on his resignation from the cabinet, Sir Edward Carson appeared in the house of commons this afternoon and set at rest all conjecture regarding the reasons for his retirement.

Sir Edward said he never had had the slightest personal differences with any of his colleagues.

After expressing regret at the absence of Premier Asquith, Sir Edward Carson said:

"I am well aware of the difficulties under the existing circumstances of making any full statement or of saying anything that might be taken hold of as showing any signs of weakness or divergence in the main object we have in view—of carrying the war at all sacrifices to a final and conclusive issue. I need hardly say that upon that issue there is not and never has been any disagreement."

"At the time I entered the cabinet we already were committed to what may be called the operations in Gallipoli. It must be plain that the new war theater in the Balkans created a situation which could not be divorced from our positions on the Gallipoli peninsula; and the statement made by the foreign minister appeared to me to be an announcement of a policy of the highest importance with regard to our obligations in the Balkans involving our prestige and honor."

"That statement, necessitated in my opinion a clearly defined and decisive policy; and finding myself unable to agree in any respect with what I understood to be laid down as a policy approved by the government, I felt that my presence in the cabinet could not be of any use."

OLD JACKSONVILLE

Dennis Rockwell, One of Our First Citizens

By Ensley Moore.

Member of Illinois State Historical Society.

Dennis Rockwell was one of the first, if not the first, officials of Morgan county, when it was organized in 1823. He then became clerk in which office he served until 1837. This was but the beginning of the offices held by that good man, and of the trusts confided to his care.

Dennis Rockwell was born in Windsor county, Conn., June 30, 1792, being the oldest son of Daniel and Lucinda Rockwell, citizens of that locality. Dennis received his early education in the common schools of New England. In 1810 he was engaged as a clerk in the government land office in Washington City, filling that position for eight years. He emigrated to Edwardsville, Madison county, Illinois, in the year 1818, thus beginning with the state, as he afterwards did with Morgan county. There he was land agent, until the organization of Morgan county when Gov. Bond appointed him recorder and notary public. He was married Feb. 14, 1822, to Miss Eliza J. Austin, daughter of J. D. and Sarah D. Austin, afterwards citizens of Morgan county, where they spent their last years. Mr. Rockwell came here soon after his marriage, where, with his experience and his correctness as a business man he was eminently qualified for the sphere of usefulness he was called to fill in the early settlement of the county. He was county clerk twenty years, clerk of the circuit court, recorder and postmaster, besides holding other offices of less note, filling two or more at the same time. He was also cashier of the branch of the State bank, at Jacksonville. In 1851, he was reappointed to a position in the land office, at Washington, which he filled for three years. He removed to Chicago in 1854, and was largely engaged in the manufacture and sale of lumber, in the firm of J. L. James & Co., and afterwards in the firm of Hannah & Rockwell. Having lost his first wife, Jan. 16, 1857, Mr. Rockwell removed with his second wife, in 1859, to Raynham, Mass. There he resided until the spring of 1866 when he returned to Jacksonville by way of Chicago. He died here, Aug. 14, 1868. Mr. Rockwell had four children by his first marriage; of these, three survived their father: Austin, then a citizen of Decatur, Neb.; Charles and William, then citizens of Jacksonville.

Mr. Dennis Rockwell owned a considerable quantity of land in or about Jacksonville, among other pieces being the "Mound farm," the sightliest land in this county. He left that place to his son, Charles, who lost it through an unfortunate endorsement, a very common occurrence in times past. Dennis Rockwell, as has recently been stated, gave the lot upon which Trinity Episcopal church was and is still standing. He was one of the first vestrymen of the parish.

Few men have been held in as high respect by our older people as was Dennis Rockwell, and these lines have only suggested a part of what he was to our young town and city. He was survived by his second wife, a fine woman.

Mr. Rockwell lived at first on West Morgan street. He afterwards erected the handsome story and a half house with dormer windows, which stood on the north side of West State street, just at the head of Diamond Court. At that time the wing room, on the west side of the house, was outside of town, so that Mrs. Rockwell said she did her work in the country, and entertained her company in town. The house, which was remodelled in 1872, became the property of Charles Rockwell, then of his wife, and is now the residence of their daughter, Mrs. Lillie Rockwell Frost.

Austin Rockwell, the eldest son of Dennis, was well known here for years, and married a daughter of Dr. A. Smith, father of the late T. Rice Smith, so long agent of the Washburne. By this wife Mr. Rockwell had two daughters, Olive and Jane. The former married and left here. The latter did not marry. Both died some years ago.

Mr. Rockwell's wife died, and he married Miss Hine, sister of Frank Hine, so long clerk at the School for the Deaf, here. This lady also died soon.

At the beginning of the Civil war Mr. Rockwell was living in a cottage on the grounds of the Morgan County Fair association, just west of the School for the Deaf. He went away for some sort of army business, and the fair grounds were used for about two months, April to June, 1861, as a rendezvous for the 14th regiment of Illinois volunteers, Col. John M. Palmer commanding. During this time the officers took their meals with Mrs. Rockwell, at her cottage. July 5, 1861, Col. U. S. Grant, with the 21st Illinois volunteers, stopped at the fair grounds to get dinner-bivouac, Gen. Vance called it. The officers found Mrs. Rockwell could furnish their dinner. Jane Rockwell, daughter of Austin, told an interesting story, in the Journal of Feb. 1, 1902, of an amusing incident in connection with the noonday repast, that story and event is a matter of much interest, if not pride, in the family. Miss Jennie, as she was also called, made her home latterly at Rixford, Pa.

The war took Austin Rockwell and his family away from here, at least to Nebraska, and perhaps to South Dakota. They never came back here to reside.

Mr. Rockwell lost his second wife, and married again.

The following extract from the Journal of May 26, 1904, relates the latter part of Mr. Rockwell's history—although he had lived a part of the last years of his life in Minnesota. The clipping, apparently from an Oklahoma paper, says:

"At 7 o'clock on the evening of May 14, Austin Rockwell, aged nearly 82 years, departed this life at the residence of his son, G. L. Rockwell, at 422 West Eighth street, Oklahoma City.

"He is survived by his devoted wife, two sons and a daughter, W. F. Rockwell, of Chicago; G. L. Rockwell, of Oklahoma City, and Miss Jennie Rockwell, of Pennsylvania."

The deceased was one of the pioneers of Nebraska, and was a member of the territorial legislature of that state, at the time it was admitted into the Union. He was a merchant there for many years, only retiring from active life at the age of 75 years. He had been in Oklahoma City a few months, visiting his son, and in the hope of improving his health, but he recently had an attack of paralysis which was the immediate cause of his taking off. The deceased was a member of the Presbyterian church, and the interment will be made on Monday afternoon, on which day private services will be held at the home of his son."

Charles Rockwell, second son of Dennis, was born here, Jan. 10, 1825 and all his life was spent here or hereabouts.

Mr. Rockwell was married Sept. 2, 1851, to Miss Margaret Wilkins, daughter of Mr. Otway Wilkins, one of the earliest and best citizens of Jacksonville. The young people were married in Mr. Wilkins' large brick house, which then stood at the south east corner of College avenue and Church streets. It was afterwards the property of Mr. E. R. Elliott. The Central Christian church now occupies the site.

Mr. Rockwell lived in his father's old mansion here on West State street, and engaged in farming part of his life. He was extremely fond of horses and had a wonderful knack in handling the equines "and other cattle." For a number of years he served as town or city street supervisor. He died March 15th, 1859.

The following sketch of Mrs. Charles Rockwell appeared in the Journal of Sept. 12th, 1906:

"Mrs. Margaret Rockwell, aged 77 years, died Sunday evening, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. L. A. Frost, 523 W. College avenue."

"Margaret Wilkins was born in Lexington, Ky., Feb. 29, 1829, removing with her parents to Jacksonville in 1834. On Sept. 2, 1851, she was married to Charles Rockwell and four children were born to them: Frances W., Lillie A. Frost, Edward W., and Charles R., two of whom, Frances, wife of the late Dr. F. C. Winslow, and Edward W., with the father, have passed away."

"Mrs. Rockwell received her education at the Jacksonville Female Academy. She was a quiet and unostentatious woman, but of strong character and broad culture. She was peculiarly devoted to her church, the Grace Methodist, and to her home, because it was a symbol of that shelter not made with hands, the Father's house, in which are many mansions."

"Sunday, Sept. 23, at twilight and evening bells, she heard the one clear call and went forth to meet her Pilot face to face."

William Rockwell, youngest son of Dennis, was born in this city, Jan. 1, 1827. William received a good common school education, and made the best of it, and at an early age he was making good use of his knowledge. He was in the East for several years about the time of the Civil War, returning to Jacksonville, where he clerked for a while for Dayton & Adams, in their drug and hardware store. He with John Q. Adams and Charles E. Flack succeeded Dayton & Adams, as Rockwell, Adams & Co. The others withdrew later and Mr. Rockwell carried on the business alone, at the old stand, on the north side, west half, of the square, until his removal to Chicago. There he was employed in a number of occupations.

In 1865, Mr. Rockwell married Miss Laura Murray, at Portsmouth, Va., and they were the parents of eleven children, nine of whom survived their father: one an infant, and the other George D., the oldest child. George D. was graduated from Illinois College in the class of 1885. The surviving children were William A., Arthur C., Leander L., Earl, Mrs. Catherine Beigler, Mrs. Frank A. Vickers and Miss Ruth.

The Journal of August 20, 1907, speaking of Mr. Rockwell's death, the previous Saturday, in Chicago, said in part:

"In his family he was ever kind and tender, and during his old age he was well cared for by his dutiful children. He was a man of strict integrity and popular with all who knew him."

"Mr. Rockwell's remains were brought here for burial and his six sons carried them to their last resting place."

It should have been stated, in referring to Mrs. Charles Rockwell, above, that her mother was Miss Ethelinda Berryman, and both Otway Wilkins and Ethelinda, his wife, were natives of the grand "Old Dominion," Virginia. They came to Kentucky and thence to Illinois.

Today, Mrs. Lillie A. Frost, with her brother Charles and her son, Ernest, with the latter's wife have their dwelling in the old Rockwell homestead, one of the few old families of Jacksonville so situated.

As is well known here, Mrs. Frost's husband, Dr. Frost, was for many years a physician at the Central State Hospital for the Insane.

Referring again to Mrs. Dennis Rockwell, a correspondent of the "New York Evangelist," writing in about the year 1866 or 1867, telling of Illinois in the log cabin days" wrote in part:

"It was in February, 1821, that my friend (and employer) Dennis Rockwell, Esq., (now of Chicago) and myself, having occasion to visit our new seat of government, Vandalia, concluded, instead of taking the usual road by Greenville, to make Father Townsend's our stopping place for the night, though it would prolong the second day's travel. And as it may somewhat exhibit the state of the country at the time, I will give some of the incidents of the journey."

"We arrived at Mr. Townsend's about sunset, and received a hearty welcome, not only from himself but his family. He had built him a house—of logs of course—somewhat different from, and more commodious than the common run. We were ushered into a pleasant room, which was made cheerful not only by the ample fire, as usual, but by the tasteful arrangements and comfortable furniture, and neat adornments which showed even in a log house, the results of female refinement."

"After an excellent breakfast the next morning, we set out in fine spirits to find our way to the seat of government, an easy day's journey distant. A few miles from Mr. Townsend's we came to a shanty, or temporary structure, somewhat larger than ordinary, in which some half dozen young men were passing the winter in bachelor's hall, preparatory to setting out in the spring on their respective life enterprises. Several of these have been heard of since; but I will only speak of one: John Tillson, Jr., whose genial and moral qualities endeared him to all, and whose remarkable business qualifications laid the foundation of the fortunes of several. It was my happiness to enjoy his friendship many years; and in the spacious mansion afterward built by him in Hillsborough—as well as in later days in Quincy—often to partake of his unbounded hospitality."

"It was a brief but pleasant call, and we passed on. A little further we came to the edge of the wide prairie, where was a cabin occupied by a member of the Legislature. His wife gave us such directions as she could by courses and landmarks for want of a road, and we set forth on the vast plain without misgiving. It was a cloudy day; no sun to be seen; we mistook the directions; instead of going southeast we went northeast, and after riding all day without seeing a house or human being, we found ourselves at nightfall by the side of a small stream, where we had shower that night. It needed to trees, we took off the saddles, and lodged them as well as we could. It was not very cold, and for variety we had a sower that night. It needed no bell to arouse us in the morning. As soon as we could we set out, determining that we must go down stream to find a settlement. After riding till the middle of the afternoon, skirting the timber, we came to a habitation—a new settler of course—where we obtained food and rest; and on the fourth day (instead of the second) we came to the place so long desired. It would be hard to lose one's self on that road now."

SOLON DENIES THAT HE PLAYED PROFESSIONAL BASEBALL

Minnesota Football Captain States He Spent Summer at Home and Took a Trip to Glacier Park in September.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 20.—Lorin Solon, captain of the University of Minnesota football team, charged with playing professional baseball at Havre, Mont., last summer, today insisted the charge was false. He said:

"The report is absolutely untrue. I did not play baseball at Havre or at any other place. I spent the summer at my home at Solon Springs, Wis. In September I took a trip to Glacier Park. On the way back I met a number of the Havre ball players on the train. 'Red' Jackson and other Chicago athletes boarded the train. They evidently jumped at the conclusion that I was a Havre ball player. On reaching Minneapolis, they then spread the report that I had been playing ball."

WHITE SOX OBTAIN CHAPPELLE AND PITCHER SHACKELFORD

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—Secretary Harry Grabner, of the Chicago American league team announced today that the White Sox had obtained Outfielder Chappelle and Pitcher Shackelford from the Milwaukee team of the American association. He denied, however, that "Nemo" Liebold outfielder would be sent to Milwaukee as part of the deal. It is rumored in baseball circles that Chappelle is to be turned over to Cleveland in part payment of the Jackson. Roth and Klepper already have been turned over in connection with the trade.

25 CENTS DESTROYS YOUR DANDRUFF AND STOPS FALLING HAIR

Save Your Hair! Make it Thick, Wavy and Beautiful—Try This!

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scour.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application your hair will take on that life, lustre and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance, an incomparable gloss and softness; but what will please you most will be after just a few week's use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp.—Adv.

BREAKS A COLD IN FEW HOURS—TRY IT

First Dose of Pape's Cold Compound Relieves All Grippe Misery.

Don't stay stuffed-up! Quit blowing and snuffling! A dose of "Pape's Cold Compound" taken every two hours until three doses are taken will end grippe misery and break up a severe cold either in the head, chest, body or limbs.

It promptly opens clogged-up nostrils and air passages; stops nasty discharge or nose running; relieves sick headache, dullness, feverishness, sore throat, sneezing, soreness and stiffness.

"Pape's Cold Compound" is the quickest, surest relief known and costs only 25 cents at drug stores. It acts without assistance, tastes nice, and causes no inconvenience. Don't accept a substitute.—Adv.

'CASCARETS' FOR A COLD, BAD BREATH OR SICK HEADACHE

Best for Liver and Bowels, for Biliousness, Sour Stomach and Constipation.

Get a 10-cent box now.

Furred Tongue, Bad Colds, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret tonight will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then to keep their stomach, liver and bowels regulated, and never know a miserable moment. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.—adv.

WHALES TO BE PRESENTED WITH MEDALS DECLARING THEM CHAMPS

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—The members of the Chicago team of the Federal League will be presented with medals by the league, declaring them champions of the world for 1915, according to a letter received today by Joe Tinker, manager of the team from James A. Gilmore, president of the league.

In congratulating Tinker on winning the Federal League pennant the letter says:

"Inasmuch as the National commission failed to accept our challenge for a series to decide the championship, your team is the unquestioned champion of the world and it will be a pleasure to me to present to you and each of your players a medal emblematic of that title."

GRANT OFFICE'S REQUEST TO HAVE EVIDENCE PUT IN RECORD

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 19.—Lieut. Col. Lewis E. Goodier, judge advocate of the Western Department, was granted today a request to have the evidence from the investigation at school at San Diego put in the record, during his court martial for "inciting discord and disrespect" while preparing charges against Captain Arthur S. Cowan, the correspondence in question was that between Captain Cowan, commanding the aviation school and Lieutenant Col. Samuel Reber at Washington.

Major General Arthur Murray commanding the Western department testified today that Lieutenant Colonel Goodier's record was good with the exception of the acts for which he was on trial. These General Murray described as an "impropriety."

WILL BE GREAT BOUT.

Minneapolis papers are featuring the boxing bout scheduled for Friday night between Al. Baldwin of this city and Mattie Brock. The papers have given both fighters several columns of advance matter. Brock is said to be a comer and Baldwin has been coming for some time. He has not lost a bout since his first fight in Springfield two years ago, after he returned to the ring. He has had in the meantime probably twenty bouts and has been returned the winner in every one. Some of these contests, have been staged against men who outweighed him by several pounds. The winner of this bout will be in line for a bout with Johnny Kilbane and other topnotchers. Baldwin's friends are predicting that he will bring home the bacon.

LUTHERAN MINISTERS MEET.

Peoria, Ill., Oct. 19.—Thirty-eight Lutheran ministers were present today at the opening meeting of the Eastern Pastoral conference of Central Illinois at Immanuel Lutheran church.

FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE (By The Associated Press.)

London, October.—A Napoleonic document in the form of a diary kept on St. Helena by one Andrew Darling, a carpenter, has just been brought to light here which gives new information on doubtful points of the life of Napoleon. A description of the dead emperor's body, under the date of May 5, is of special interest, as Darling acted as undertaker, built the coffin and ground up some plaster of paris statuettes to make the plaster for the death mask. He wrote:

"About eight I went with General Montholon to the room where he was and saw him and was much astonished to see him so much wasted in the body, but at the same time look so well, so young, and with such a pleasing countenance. The size of the coffin I made was as follows: Length 5 ft., 11 in., depth 12 in., width at the head 16 in., shoulders 21 in., foot 8 in. At that time I understood that he was to lie in state and to be opened about 2 o'clock, but was not aware that he was to be put into the coffin with his hat on.

On the 7th there is this entry: "I believe they wished his heart to be taken home with them, but did not get permission; therefore they wished to preserve it, which was accordingly done in the following manner:

"His heart and stomach, as I have already mentioned, was in a silver vase or tureen, having been part of his plate with a cover to it, on which was his coat of arms with an eagle on the top, which unscrewed with a nut; this having been soldered on fast, and then the heart having been put into the tureen by Dr. Rutledge in presence of Count Montholon, etc., etc., the top having been soldered on and a hole having been made in the bottom of the vessel, the spirits were then poured in by Dr. Rutledge, and an old shilling soldered on the hole. A considerable delay having taken place owing to the construction of the vessel; it was past 3 o'clock before the two men finished.

London, October.—A long pastoral letter dealing with the subject of Zeppelin raids has been issued to the metropolitan district by the Bishop of London. In it the Bishop advises his flock as to the "proper spirit in which to face the danger of these coming evenings". He says in part:

"We have no right to leave the task of saving the freedom of the world to our children. We must see it through to the end. And in doing so we must be ready to take our share of the danger. There must be a kind of glorying in London at being allowed to take our little share of danger in the Zeppelin raids.

"As a gallant old clergyman said after one of the raids, 'The Zeppelin passed right over our house and was there potted by the aircraft. One of their fuses, weighing over a pound, fell six feet from my front door, just where I stood, and it was hot when I carried it in. It was a terrific but very splendid sight, and it has had for me something exhilarating in it; for like most old men, I have felt selfish in being comfortably at home out of danger. Now at any rate, one is allowed to feel that we may take our share a bit after all.'"

"What has happened up to now should not in any way shake the faith of anyone in ultimate victory; it was bound to happen."

Berlin, October.—The fact that mackerel are visiting German waters in such unprecedented numbers this autumn is due to great shoals of sprat, which are eagerly sought by the mackerel as food. The sprat, a small fish about six inches in length, is itself caught and smoked for the German market in huge quantities; hence the visit of the sprat and mackerel is proving a double blessing to the German people.

Canton, China, October.—Southern China does not take kindly to the movement to make Yuan Shi-kai Emperor. Southern China, in fact, seldom takes kindly to any movement emanating from the northern part of the republic. But the restoration of the Empire is a project especially distasteful to the great commercial center of southern China. Most of the wealth of China is centered here and in Hong Kong and Shanghai. The Cantonese have always been extremely encouraged the two recent revolutions.

Many progressive Cantonese have become extremely wealthy through the development of the mines in the made great fortunes in Java. And most of the wealthy Chinese in the United States are from the Canton neighborhood. Many of these men, are reformers who back their views with money.

Even before the Society for the Preservation of Peace set forth its plan for the restoration of the Empire, there was extreme dissatisfaction with General Lung, the military governor named by President Yuan Shi-kai to direct affairs in Canton. War conditions made business bad. Ten the floods came and intensified the unrest. While inspecting the damages done by the flood, General Lung was injured by a bomb hurled at him by a reformer. A few days later two bombs were found in his house which had been smuggled in by a cook bribed by reformers.

General Lung has 25,000 troops in the vicinity of Canton and the Yuan Shi-kai government has been able to pay them regularly so far, but in China there is always the danger that an enemy will offer more money and win away the military and naval forces. This happened before in Canton, and if the wealthy reformers were to advance sufficient money to finance the opponents of the Imperial movement, foreigners residing here are apprehensive of the results.

Southern China has been under the influence of Hong Kong so long, and through its extensive foreign trade is so closely in touch with the outside world, that it represents the domination of northern China. The desire for a separate government in southern China is always uppermost in the minds of each every excuse to advance their views and are seizing upon the movement to restore the Empire as a reason for reviving their efforts to throw off the control of what they regard as the more backward section of the country.

Shanghai, Nanking, Hankow and the other cities along the Yangtze-Kiang are well under control of the Peking government. Warships patrol the Yangtze-Kiang river and it is easily accessible by rail from Peking. The pearl river is more remote. Canton and other cities along this stream are not accessible by rail from Peking. Ports along this river are located in a densely settled country where there are many reformers who have in the past seized the forts and defeated naval movements against Canton.

Every precaution is taken now to protect Canton against revolutionists. The baggage of passengers arriving either by rail or water from Hong Kong is carefully searched. Chinese men and women are examined thoroughly to make sure they have no firearms or bombs upon their persons.

Apparently there is no effective leadership for the sentiment against the restoration of the Empire. Discredited in Canton and all southern China. The reformers believe they tricked them and pay no attention to the movement against President Yuan Shi-kai which he is attempting to promote from Tokio. No other individual looms big in the anti-government movement up to the present time, but it has the support of many guilds which are constantly opposing the Peking government, regardless of its chief executive.

AN UNTIMELY FROST.

Frank Heintz, who is an authority on the subject, says the reason the foliage is not as beautiful this fall as usual is the severe frost that visited this region not long since. Leaves don't mind a light frost but the one which took place a few days ago was so severe it killed the leaves and stopped the flow of sap and coloring material and made the leaves fall. Had the frost not taken place here the foliage would have been far more beautiful.

For 50c—Next Week Only

Plus Five Trademarks from Quaker Oats Packages, 10c Size or Plus Two Trademarks from Quaker Oats Packages, 25c Size

This Quaker Cooker

We have supplied perfect double Cookers to over 700,000 homes, to make Quaker Oats more delightful. They are made to our order to bring out the fullness of the flavor and aroma.

Such a Cooker as this, if sold at retail, would cost more than most homes would pay. But our purpose requires it in every home where Quaker Oats are used, so we ourselves supply it.

Our purpose is this: To create more Quaker Oats users, by making this the best-loved morning dish.

To this end, we use queen grains only in this brand—just the big, plump grains. We get but ten pounds per bushel. That means that two-thirds of the oats as they come to us are discarded in Quaker Oats.

The result is large, luscious flakes. They make this dish doubly-delicious. Yet they cost you no extra price.

These flavory flakes have won the world to Quaker. In a hundred nations this is the favorite brand. Millions of oat lovers send thousands of miles to get it.

Our next object is right cooking, and we offer this Cooker to every home to attain it. But we supply only one to a home.

Get this Cooker next week under this special offer. You want children to delight in this vim-food. You want them to eat an abundance. The way to attain that is to serve Quaker Oats cooked in this Quaker Cooker.

Next Week 50c—But Never Again

Our regular offer made in each Quaker Oats package is this: Send us five trademarks cut from the front of the Quaker Oats packages. That is to prove you a Quaker Oats user. Send $1 with the trademarks and this Quaker Cooker will be sent by parcel post.

Next week's offer is this: Send us five trademarks—the picture of the Quaker—cut from the fronts of five Quaker Oats packages, 10c size, or two from the 25c size. Send with them only 50 cents, and we will send the Cooker by parcel post.

For one week—for next week—we cut the payment in two. For 50c you get this big Aluminum Cooker. But this offer will never be repeated. No requests will be honored unless mailed next week. And the offer is confined to this county.

Note the grocers who have the Cooker on show. You will find Quaker Oats displayed with it. See the Cooker and, if you approve it, arrange next week to get it. It will mean a 50-cent saving under the lowest price we have ever offered. Please don't forget.

WORLD'S MARKET NEWS

ORDERS FOR IMPORT DUTIES IN FRANCE PUT NEW BURDEN ON WHEAT

Market Shows a Decline of 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 Cents Net—Corn Gives Way Owing to Fine Weather and Weakness of Wheat.

Chicago, Oct. 20.—Government orders for heavy import duties in France put a new burden today on wheat prices here. Largely in consequence, the market which was unsettled at the close showed a decline of 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 cents net, with December at $1.04 1/2 and May at $1.05 1/2.

The outcome in corn was the same as yesterday to 1/4 cent lower. Oats were off 1/2 to 3/4 cent. Provisions were down 17 1/2 to 6 1/2 cents. Estimates were current today that the Canadian export surplus of wheat might reach the immense total of 250,000,000 bushels. Another forecast was that 2,700 carloads would arrive at Winnipeg tomorrow as against only 187 cars on the corresponding day a year ago.

Corn gave way to fine weather and the weakness of wheat. A sharp bulge in prices at Liverpool had only a slight temporary effect on values here. In the oats crowd the chief factor was the bearish action of other grain. Commission houses bought on the declines.

Sharp breaks in the hog market tumbled down provisions. What little support there was came almost entirely from shorts.

PIKE CO., MAN TALKS ALFALFA TO MASON COUNTY FARMERS

Method of Seeding Alfalfa and Sweet Clover on the Wheat—Alfalfa Especially Suited to Sandy Soil—Can be Harvested Under Adverse Circumstances.

H. C. McCarrel, of Kinderhook, Pike county, was an interesting speaker at the Eastern Institute in Mason county last week. He has 400 acres of which is so rough that it must be kept in grass to prevent erosion and even then not all of the washing can be stopped. He thinks that concrete dams would be too costly and not very suitable to stop the washing of this hilly land. A great deal of straw is used for that purpose. But he says that this loose, thin soil is ideal for the deep rooted alfalfa. He began his talk by quoting the bible expression of crops returning "some thirty, some sixty, and some an hundred fold," and he said that was Syrian alfalfa; nothing else would do it, that in "the state of Pike" ten fold was a common yield and if the farmers got twenty or twenty-five fold they thought they were doing well. It was alfalfa that restored the health and sanity of Nebuchadnezzar when he was turned out to grass. That is what alfalfa did for that one animal. Alfalfa was boiled in pots and fed to the Persian warriors, and we wonder if Europe will come to this food, if the war continues. We know just two new things about alfalfa. In those ancient countries they didn't know that alfalfa needed so much limestone and that it must be inoculated, but they had the abundance of limestone and natural inoculation.

Our Great Farmers Grew It.
In our country Jefferson, Washington and all the great farmers of their day grew alfalfa, but when the eastern land came to lack lime this crop was almost lost, and now there has been a revival of alfalfa in the east where it has been grown by western men who knew and followed its requirements.

Mason county has a sandy soil especially adapted to the growing of alfalfa. You can grow sweet clover on land that is not quite rich enough to grow alfalfa. Mason county soil needs nitrogen especially. Cowpeas are grown in Mason county, and there are 130 pounds of nitrogen in three tons of cowpeas per acre; if the peas are properly inoculated two-thirds of this will come from the atmosphere and the other third from the soil, and most of that third will be stored in the roots and stubble of the peas.

But the land that will produce three tons of cowpeas ought to produce six or eight tons of alfalfa, taking 200 pounds of nitrogen from the air. Which would you rather have, the 86 pounds of nitrogen from the cowpeas or the 200 pounds of nitrogen through the alfalfa. Which would you rather have $86 or $200.

Alfalfa is very rich in protein and that is the expensive feed when the livestock must have. Clover, at four tons per acre, has 160 pounds of nitrogen with a little over 100 pounds taken from the atmosphere. Which is better, 100 or 200 pounds of nitrogen? Alfalfa has 1.8 per cent of protein and alfalfa 1.1 per cent of protein. In this one costly element of protein two tons of alfalfa equal three tons of clover. Protein is the thing you buy in steak, in cheese, eggs and beans. And then the alfalfa crop when started will stay with you for years instead of having to be seeded every year or two.

Harvesting Alfalfa in Bad Weather.
Alfalfa can be harvested under the most adverse circumstances. Mr. McCarrel had alfalfa down in the swath during six days and nights of rain and then it got another rain when it was in the shock. Some of it was lost and it was damaged, but not so much but that it made fair hay. He has grown alfalfa for twelve years and has never lost a year's crop; sometimes the hay has been damaged. He has had the alfalfa shocks wet entirely through and he says that alfalfa will stand more abuse in weather than any other hay. He has had the shocks go through seven days of a drizzling rain without serious damage; and when the shocks have had to stay on the meadow, apparently injuring the plants under the shocks, the growth in these spots always catches up by cutting time so that you cannot tell where the shock stood. Alfalfa is not easy to plow under; alfalfa is so good a feed that no man has the heart to plow it under.

Seed Alfalfa After Wheat.
Mr. McCarrel thinks that ordinarily it is best to seed alfalfa after wheat, disking the ground again and again and working it to pack it down. The best wheat he ever grew was on land that had been in alfalfa. Because he has had a rank growth of wheat to injure the alfalfa in it, he would not recommend that alfalfa be sown in the wheat in the spring. It is too liable to be spotted and he thinks it is almost impossible to get a new seeding of alfalfa to grow in these spots and that it would be better to plow up the piece and sow it all over again. But he has alfalfa seeded that way this year from which one crop of hay has been cut and the alfalfa is again eight inches high.

Mr. McCarrel has grown baby beef for many years and notes the need of a protein ration; corn and silage will not give it. There must be a little something of high protein added to it.

Seeding Sweet Clover on Wheat.
Mr. McCarrel told of seeding sweet clover on wheat, broadcasting it, and then lap harrowing each way; that is, harrowing the wheat four times. This covers up the wheat and it looks bad at the time, but it does not hurt it a particle, but did it a lot of good. This sweet clover is on poor land and it has made a high growth this year. He will save the seed crop next year if he can.

Sweet Clover Growing on Gravel.
The speaker told of fifteen acres of land where the Wabash Railroad Company had taken gravel off and then a flood washing out the track had stopped their work; gradually this place received the wash from higher ground and sweet clover has grown there for a number of years and has been mowed when eighteen inches to two feet high; the sweet clover grew on one knoll where no dirt was left, but with the floods digging up the sweet clover and the drouth of last year drying it out, it has finally died out. He makes the point that if sweet clover will grow on such a gravel bed that it will grow on very poor, sandy land.

Scatters Inoculation Soil by Hand.
He inoculates the ground by scattering the soil by hand from a wagon as the hired man drives slowly. This soil should be thoroughly powdered before scattering. The glue method is easier and he believes it is all right, using a pound of glue to three gallons of water, mixing up the soil with this by shoveling it back and forth.

Has Disked Alfalfa.
Answering a question Mr. McCarrel said that he had double disked his alfalfa and let the hired man ride the harrow and in a week he couldn't see a trace of the disk or harrow remaining in the alfalfa. He thought that it would be easier to get a stand of sweet clover on sandy soil than of alfalfa, but the soil must be inoculated.

No Use For Sudan Grass.
Mr. McCarrel thought that Sudan grass was the worst curse that ever struck his county because we are trying to teach the farmers to grow legumes and they will turn aside to the great growth of this grass, which is nothing but a sorghum and of low feeding value, not worth any more than timothy and is really a millet. He thought that it was better than nothing and suitable to use just as you would a millet, when the corn was washed out and there was no other way to use the ground late in the season; that he thought was the only excuse for using Sudan grass. It doesn't have the protein.

Cut Sweet Clover High.
Sweet clover must be cut high, for it has no crowns and must grow up again from the branches instead of from a crown like alfalfa. And the speaker told in detail of seeding alfalfa as well as sweet clover on the wheat in the spring, harrowing it in very thoroughly with four harrows, and that this was of benefit to the wheat.

Short Acreage of Wheat.
Mr. McCarrel said that the seeding of wheat would be short of the usual acreage in Pike county. On the bottom lands the ground is being prepared with the disk and not plowed at all, but the old wheat men feel that it is not so sure a crop if sown later than Oct. 15 and the acreage will be short.

FARMERS' INSTITUTES OF COUNTY BEGIN

SESSIONS AT CONCORD YESTERDAY LARGELY ATTENDED.

Ralph Allen Talks on Soil Fertility and Mrs. John C. Hessler of Decatur on "Making the Home Beautiful."

The Morgan county farmers' institute was opened at Concord Wednesday with a large attendance. This was one of three that are to be held in the county this week. Today an institute will be held in Murrayville and on Friday and Saturday the institute will be held in Franklin.

The speakers for the institute Wednesday were Ralph Allen of Delavan and Mrs. John C. Hessler of Decatur. Mr. Allen's address was on soil fertility, with reference to legume crops. Mrs. Hessler talked on "Making the Home Beautiful."

A few of Mr. Allen's thoughts are given:— Our agricultural experiment station will tell us that our soil needs phosphorus. It also needs nitrogen and it needs rotation of crops, including the legumes which bring nitrogen to the soil.

I started out with a rotation of crops, including clover. I raised two crops of corn and a crop of oats and then sowed clover. But the clover crop failed. One of the great problems before us is the raising of these legume crops in order to maintain rotation and to get fertility.

I found that clover sowed at the same time as alfalfa did not do well. The alfalfa seems to be the harder. Some people saw, however, that alfalfa is not adapted to a short rotation but I have been unable to see why it is not. I believe that alfalfa will make a good stand by sowing in the spring of the year. I have sowed alfalfa on all kinds of soil and in each instance it was a success and much better than clover sowed at the same time.

Typically Ideal Soil.
A typically ideal soil, one that will produce maximum crops and not suffer for lack of phosphorus, should contain 2,000 pounds of that element, so you see that the ordinary Illinois land is deficient to the extent of about one-third. It should have as much more phosphorus in the soil as it has now. In almost every instance where I have seen that element, provided for the growth of leguminous crops, I have seen splendid results.

A year ago in June I was at the agricultural experiment station. I think it was before they cut the first crop of alfalfa. I looked over the plot of ground that had been differently treated with nitrogen and some treated with potassium and some with lime—most all with lime—and in every instance where the phosphorus had been used there was a remarkable increase in the crop. You could see it. It was thicker on the ground and it was very thick; thicker than the hair on a pig's back. Later on, the succeeding winter, I made inquiry as to the yield they had obtained and the average yield where there was no soil treatment given, was about two tons to the acre—perhaps a little better, but not much better. I don't remember the exact figures as to just what the average yield was on the plot of ground which had phosphorus added to it, but I know it was more than twice as much. I will put it at two and one-half tons to the acre where they had not added to it, but I do remember and remember distinctly that the yield, that the average yield where phosphorus had been added to the ground was 5.28 tons to the acre. There is quite a difference there.

What I am trying to show you is that matter of soil fertility and the effect that alfalfa has on the fertility of the soil. You must have nitrogen in the soil and the only cheap way to get it is by growing leguminous crops, of which alfalfa is one of the principal ones, and in order to get the alfalfa you must have an abundant supply of the mineral elements. Therefore, having an abundant supply of the mineral elements, then you must have the alfalfa and then you can get the nitrogen out of the air and then you will raise large crops of wheat and corn. That is the philosophy of the thing.

Mrs. Hessler Talks.
Mrs. Hessler talked on the "Making of a Beautiful Home."

Mrs. Hessler gave an interesting account of the modern home and her conception of what it should be. In her argument she advanced the theory that it was better for the farmer to bring the modern conveniences to the country home and remain there than it was to move to the city and pay a big price for a home and lot.

She also emphasized the need of building an honest house, that is, that the construction be of the best as to material and workmanship. That the site be an important consideration. By this meaning that the view upon which one would look from the windows of the home should be regarded as a part of the furnishings. The question of an architect also was one to be considered carefully and she took the ground that the architect was worthy of his fee in that he will give you a better designed house and take away all of the worry incident to building.

Mrs. Hessler then gave an interesting description of the manner in which she and her husband built their home in the country. In closing Mrs. Hessler said that the home is a great human affection that is expressed in the terms of shelter and of the labor and care for the members of the family, for that reason we want to add to our houses in the building, the personal thought of easing the work for those who have the household duties and for the members of the family who do their work outside and merely use the house for a resting place.

The program at Murrayville today will be in the M. E. church at 2 o'clock. An interesting program has been prepared. Mr. Allen and Mrs. Hessler will both be on the program and there will be a number of premiums offered for exhibits.

A SUCCESSFUL FARMER AND A FINE FARM

A Visit to the Home of Al Leach Discloses Some Interesting Facts—Has Had Good Success With Alfalfa.

Lying just at the foot of the gentle eminence known as the "mound" is the farm of a man familiarly known as "Al" Leach and surely the gentleman has good reason to be pleased with the lines which have fallen to him for they are in pleasant places and he has a good heritage of 150 acres well supplied with outbuildings and a handsome house surrounded by fine trees and much that is calculated to make life agreeable. While not at all pretending to be a model farmer Mr. Leach does study the subject of agriculture carefully and conducts his place intelligently and with success.

With the exception of the present year which has been so disastrous to several crops Mr. Leach has had fine success with alfalfa of which he has thirteen acres. He says he cuts it from three to five times a year and the average yield is about five tons to the acre and it will generally average fifteen dollars a ton in value. This year the wet weather has been too much for the oats and alfalfa crop on Mr. Leach's farm but the like of such a season as this we are not liable to see for many years to come. For seed Mr. Leach uses the northern variety which he buys in Wisconsin and has good success with his crops as a rule. He cuts and then turns it with a tedder before raking it up after which he puts it in the barn or bale. He feeds it to his cattle, horses and hogs and the leaves that shatter off are fine feed for chickens and are regular egg producers. On the whole, his nine years experience in raising alfalfa have been very favorable to the crop.

He believes in keeping up the land and says his soil is as strong now as it was many years ago and he does not abuse it. He raises two or at most three crops of corn on a field and then to wheat or oats and clover. He has the best success in getting a stand of clover by sowing it with oats which is almost certain to produce a crop. He pastures it some times and sometimes cuts a crop but always likes to plow under a good lot of the growth which adds amazingly to the productivity of the land. For oats he prefers the Texas variety as an all around good crop.

For corn he depends on the old, reliable Reid Yellow Dent and raises from 65 to 85 bushels to the acre. He cultivates in the most approved manner and has a class of grain well worthy of admiration.

Mr. Leach says sows are undoubtedly a good thing but he hasn't yet seen it to his advantage to have one. He doesn't make a business of feeding cattle and consequently hasn't yet seen where it would pay him to construct such a thing. He carefully breaks down the stalks after the corn is husked from them, cuts them and plows them under so they are not wasted after all. He doesn't much believe in selling grain off the place and feeds a good many hogs. For them he prefers the one long shed with apartments for sows with small pigs and he takes good care of his young porkers, feeding them slop until they are old enough to eat corn which then is their principal ration. He has done something with the Jersey Reds but after all, as a steady diet he will take the Poland China. He knows they have been badly injured and caused to deteriorate by careless inbreeding but that may be remedied and when that is done, they are the hogs for Mr. Leach. He deplores the small bones and tender bodies some have but thinks that by careful selection of boars and due attention to quality of the right kind the objections to this sterling breed may be eliminated and all their former virtues restored.

He arranges for his sows to have one or two litters a year, one always in the spring and sometimes a second in the fall. He doesn't pamper them nor neglect them but gives intelligent treatment which pays. He keeps only a few cows and likes the Jerseys for milkers but the Short Horns are hard to beat for all around purposes.

Mr. Leach has good horses but says he prefers the medium weights for his own use. The coach animals and the roadsters of good size will do the most work, stand up to it better and give better satisfaction in all respects.

CASE WAS DISMISSED.

Earl Statts and Herschell Jolly were arrested charged with the theft. They gave bond before Justice Dyer for their appearance. Wednesday they were arraigned for a hearing before Justice Dyer. After hearing the evidence the court dismissed the case as he considered that not enough evidence had been presented to warrant holding them over to the grand jury.

A MODEL SCHOOL HOUSE BUILT AT WEST LIBERTY

A New Building That Does Credit to the Directors and Vicinity—Miss Mae Thompson, Teacher.

The destruction of the schoolhouse at West Liberty, near Markham, a year or two ago will be remembered by all readers of the Journal. For a time they had to get along as best they could but finally they decided to build another house and have it strictly up to date and they certainly have succeeded. A Journal reporter called there yesterday morning and was indeed pleased by what he saw. The directors, Messrs. John Boddy, Allison Thomason and Alfred Killam, have certainly done themselves credit in their work. They have not been stingy and parsimonious neither have they been at all reckless and extravagant.

Men producing fine stock vie with each other in the completeness and elegance of their barns and outbuildings and why shouldn't the structures that house the children be fine and up to date? That was the way the directors argued and acted accordingly. The building faces the east and has a commodious entrance and passage way. In the south corner is a small apartment which is intended for a library which will be accumulated in due season. Beside that is the cloak room for the girls; then comes the entrance passageway and next to that the cloak room for the boys and in the north corner is the entrance to the basement.

Immediately west of this row of apartments is the schoolroom proper and it is attractive indeed. It is well furnished with modern desks facing north and in the north end are two small ones and on the west side is a large window opening almost the whole length of the building which supplies light for the pupils and is to be suitably controlled with curtains.

The room is heated with a regular hot air furnace in the basement which is all concreted and furnished good facilities for play when the weather is too cold for out of doors.

The schoolroom is well supplied with a suspended globe, maps, while other appliances, pictures and books, will follow doubtless, in due time. The contractor was a trifle late in beginning work on the building and they have been obliged to move in almost before things were wholly ready. Some grading remains to be done about the building and that will have attention as soon as the directors can get at it.

The school yard is large and lies gently sloping to the east. It has a few trees on it and without doubt the directors will set out more in the near future.

The visit at the school was much enjoyed by the writer who took pleasure in telling the children something about far away lands. The young people listened respectfully and when questions which were especially gratifying, showing an intelligent conception of what had been said to them.

Miss Mae Thompson, the teacher, seems to have her young charges well in hand and they showed a good degree of intelligence and ability to learn. A visit to West Liberty school would be a good thing for all who are likely to have anything to do with constructing a school building.

The pupils are:
Jessie Thies,
Myrtle Kloppe,
Elsie Worrell,
Jennie Worrell,

The Age of Youth

This is the Age of Youth. Men of all ages are living in closer relationship. You hear very little of old fashioned ideas. Fathers are thinking as their sons: they are playing the same games—they are DRESSING more alike.

That is why Society Brand Clothes are so popular now. They show a dignified conservative touch of YOUTHFULNESS. They make men look as young as they OUGHT to look today. They make men of 40 look 35 instead of 45, as was usual. Fads and extremes are abhorred. Yet Society Brand Models lead in exclusiveness. They are widely copied—but no other makers seem able to get their incomparable effects.

These clothes are too slowly and too carefully made—the output is too limited to sell to every store in a city. So there is never more than one merchant in a town who can offer these designs. But that merchant is carefully selected.

The Broadway, here pictured, is an overcoat that young men like for its trim smartness. Double breasted, close fitting—$20 and $25.
